Request for Speaking Engagement

Beatrice Bailey was born and raised in Davenport, Iowa to a Baptist minister and a mother who was a gospel-recording artist. She has three sisters and one brother. She attended the University of Iowa and graduated with a BA in Psychology from California State University, Sacramento.

Retired since 2004 from management positions with both the Xerox Corporation and the State of California, Bea now conducts customized seminars on "Budgeting for the Not So Rich and Famous," "Putting the Puzzle Pieces Together…The Ultimate Balancing Act," as well as interview techniques entitled, "Selling the Sizzle and Not the Steak." In addition, she is active in St. Paul Baptist Church in Sacramento and is an Adult Sunday School teacher. She is also a co-facilitator of a national GriefShare Support Group and is the Head Feature Writer for Senior Magazine of Northern California. Currently, Beatrice is traveling throughout the nation and Mexico promoting her book of personal empowerment, Farewell, My Friend. She has recently appeared on the News at Noon on Channel 3 and Sacramento & Co on Channel 31 in Sacramento and the Author's Show in North Carolina. Currently, Bea is the host of the new innovative television show, "Bea-On Bereavement – The Power of Planning", which will air in November 2009 on RCCTV, Sacramento, CA*.

To relax, Bea likes to work out at the gym, walk, knit, paint, sew, cook, garden, and read. Traveling within the United States, Mexico, Asia and Europe is one of Bea's true passions. She has two married children, one "bonus" son, five wonderful grandchildren and a great granddaughter. Beatrice resides in Northern California.
